Once upon a time, in the land of dinosaurs, lived a T-Rex named King.
He was the King of the dinosaurs but he didn't have a voice.
He would communicate by growling and raising his foot.
One day he and a pterodactyl were fighting on the banks of the river. They were fighting over a fish.
Meanwhile, crocodiles were lurking on the muddy banks. King won the fight because of his super sharp teeth.

The End.