The Stories of Anne Gardenweaver!

Back in the 1800's, a baby girl named Anne was born. She had blue eyes and black hair. This was in Oklahoma City. Anne was born with the alligators.

The day she was born, she was so talkative, the alligators ran away! When she was one, she could climb the steepest hill. When Anne was only four, she could fly! Anne had no family because I'm not kidding but she was born from alligators! One day, she went into town and was surprised to see a little girl with her leg stuck in a narrow pot. "Help me! Help me! Kind woman please help me!", she said in a high voice. "What happened?" asked Anne. "I was just walking and suddenly my leg was stuck!", she said. "Ok, this might hurt a little." Anne said. She flattened her hands and put them in the pot. "Expand hands," she stated. Crack! The pot exploded! The girl's foot however was fine!
After they died, their spirits still roam
Oklahoma City.

By Sophia M. Manthey
Anne is so talkative, the alligators ran away!

When she was four, she could fly!

Anne rides into town.

Anne and the girl lived happily together.